Frequently Asked Questions:

Q: What types of people are going to be entering the competition? Will it be professionals, amateurs, or what?

A: All of the above...The "Battle of the Bows" Cajun Fiddle Competition has a category for all levels of Cajun Fiddle Style players. The "Professional" category is anyone who is currently active in a career playing the Cajun Fiddle Style of playing. i.e.: Listed in publications, music professional, receiving money through contracts to perform, etc.

Any competitor deemed as professional by the "Battle of the Bows" Cajun Fiddle Competition committee may ask the committee to re-examine their status; however, the finding of the "Battle of the Bows" Cajun Fiddle Competition committee shall be final.

Q: Who has entered? How many people have entered?

A: The Committee will not divulge who has entered or how many competitors there are because we want to keep the contest as fair and on the level as possible. Of course, you can rest assured that we would not give out your name to anyone else.

Q: What are the criteria? How does the judging work?

A: There will be a panel of three judges. Each judge will be from the Cajun music industry. The criteria will be on Cajun music knowledge, playing style, and skill, and on stage presence. No vocals and no accompanist allowed; only fiddle-playing skills will be part of the competition.

Criteria for Judging:

Accuracy of Noting and Intonation, Usage of Double Stop and Drones, Usage of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd positions, Various Types of Bow Techniques, and Difficulty of Tunes

The criteria, is only used to elevate the score. Score from 1-10 for each song (10 is best and 1 is poorest)

Each contestant is required to play one random Cajun Waltz of your choice and one random Cajun Two-step of your choice and list them on your entry form. To succeed in this segment you should have a well- rounded knowledge of different Cajun songs. Here you will have two full minutes per song to impress the judges with your skill, showmanship, and Cajun Fiddle Style musicianship. It is also a place to be a performer. Cut loose and give them a show. Build some excitement with the crowd and the judges, and of course blow everyone away with your style. Note: A competitor may change the song they chose on the registration form at competition time, but must convey this to the MC immediately upon entering the stage for their competition, so that the MC can alert the Judges of the changes.

Twin Fiddle Category: You may enter in the individual fiddle competition and participate in the Twin Fiddle competition. However, keep in mind that if you participate in both competitions, you might be required to compete back to back in the category you choose and in the Twin Fiddle competition depending on the amount of contestants entered in the competition. If you choose to participate in two categories, you must be ready to compete in both categories without causing any delays to the fiddle competition. You and your partner will be required to play one random Cajun Waltz and one Cajun 2- Step of your choice. There will only be one pair of winners in each category in the Twin Fiddle competition with the cash prize divided between the twin fiddlers competing. There are no 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place winners in the Twin Fiddle competition.

Once again, there will be no vocals and no accompanist allowed during the competition segment; only fiddle playing skills will be part of the competition. Note: In the event of a tie in any category, the judges will pick a song common to the competitors involved, and a final showdown decision will prevail.

Restrictions:

2018 1st Place Winners in the Youth and Junior categories are not allowed to participate in the same category in 2019. They must sit out one year before they become eligible to re-enter the competition in the same category. They can compete in another category should they choose as long as they meet the criteria. (New this year) 2018 1st Place Winners in the Adult and Professional categories are allowed to defend their 1st Place win from 2018 for 1 year, if they win in 2019 they must sit out a year. There is now a 1st, 2nd and 3rd place in the Professional category this year. (New this year)

Good Sportsmanship is expected. The decision of the judges is final.
